- THE WORLD! -

To a party of distinguished Americans who lately peid him a visit, Max Alvary said that he owed all his success to the encouragement first given him in the United States. He manifests great interest in the coming World's Fair at Chicago, and thinks it will be the incident of the century. Speaking of the aptitude of American genius in the general field of mechanical development, he referred to his first appearance in opera at Chicago, and of the pleasure afforded him during his engagement by a plano of incomparable sweetness and purity produced by the W. W. Kimball Company of that city. He thought it to be an improvement on anything the world has yet seen in the mechanics of music, while many of the American Inventions which he has since seen or read of, including those of Mr. Edison, convince him of the ability of the American nation to give an exposition that will pale the splendors of London, Vienna and Paris combined.

The details of the terrible earthquake shock of which I cabled you on Wednesday prove it to have been more disastrous than was supposed. She Denies That She is Diss de Bar of Spook Notoriety.

A Strange Story of Drugging and Kidna ing Related by the Singular Wom -The Mystery Deeper

By Telegraph to The Times.
CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] Nontrace has been found of Miss Vera Ava. alleged to be a wealthy Englishwoman who came here some weeks ago to work for foreign women and who suddenly disappeared Wednesday evening. Concerning her identity an afternoon paper says: She is none other than Ann Odelia Diss deBar, the spook priestess of New York. She was seen on the street and recognized by a New York newspaper woman, who called upon the chief of detectives, and told him of her discovery. The description of Ann Odelia tallies exactly with that of Miss Ava. According to a New York lady, the notorious spiritualist carries a stock of wigs and other make-ups, and has of late been traveling across the country, swindling gullible church people. The police have no doubt that Miss Ava is Diss deBar. This opinion is strengthened by information gleaned from other sources It has been discovered that a woman who answered to Miss Ava's description who answered to Miss Ava's description called at one of the medical colleges yesterday. If this is true it proves that she did not make away with herself on-Wednesday night. On the day of her disappearance the alleged Miss Ava had an interview with Archbishop Feehan. She gave Mrs. Bolton, with whom she drove to the Archbishop's residence, to She gave Mrs. Bolton, with drove to the Archbishop's residence, to understand that she was going to see short getting some property which was about getting some property which was in possession of the Catholic Church in in possession of the Catholic Church in England. She was formerly a member of that church, and it is said was once a nun. She evidently deceived Mrs. Bolton as the Archbishop says his talk was exclusively on religious subjects and was not of a personal character. It appears that she also called on Archbishop Feehan yesterday. The cabman who drove her there today identified Miss Ava's nicture as that of identified Miss Ava's picture as that of the woman in question. He said that after she entered the cab he saw her take out a blonde wig and arrange her hair. About a week ago she visited Sadler, the British consul here, and un-Sadler, the British consul here, and under seal of secrecy told him a remarkable story, as Sadler confesses, but he declines to give the tenor of it. She was very captivating, with a full blonde wig, frizzed and banged, and she told Mr. Sadler she had lived in Chicago for ten years, whereas she has not been here as many weeks. Sadler says he does notobelieve her to be an Englishwoman. She spoke with a French accent and spoke French like a native.

The police have become convinced The police have become convinced that the woman is merely in hiding and the detectives detailed on the case have been withdrawn.

The wife of Rev. Dr. Bolton still holds to her belief that Miss Ava has met with foul play. She is firmly convinced that Miss Ava is a highly educated woman from the English upper class. She says that just before they went out together on Wednesday evening the missing woman showed her a wallet filled with Raising her right hand in a dramatic manner she said to Mrs. Bolton: "Swear that if ever I disappear you will not rest until you have found me, even if you have to ask all Chicago to join you in the search."

Mrs. Bolton says that Miss. Ava had before told her that she had enemies; that her mother had been murdered, and she seemed apprehensive that some such fate would overtake her. She never said a word against the Catholic religion, from which she was a convert. She had spent many happy days as a re-

She had spent many happy days as a re-ligieuse, but desiring a broader scope for charitable work left the cloister. "The strangest thing about the case," said Detective Lieut. Shea tonight, "is that this Miss Ava, who is written up as a fakir, has refused money from thos she interested in her charitable work she interested in her charitable work.

The woman had often stated that goods had been shipped to her from England, but officials of the customhouse say that no such woman has ever been near there. A curious feature of the mystery is that Miss Ava is reported to have said she feared she would meet a fate similar to that of Dr. Cronin. Father Kelly, upon whom she called just prior to her disappearance, is a brother of a man whose arrest in St. Louis as a Cronin suspect caused a sensation at the time. He was speedily released, there being no proof against him. house say that no such woman has ever THE MISSING FOUND.

Miss Ava Arrested in Cincinnati—Halfnaked and Talking Strangely.

Cincinnati, Sept. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] Miss Vera Ava, if her testimony is to be credited, is here in the Cincinnati House of Detention. She talks sometimes rationally and sometimes with wild incoherence. She says her name is Vera Ava, that her native place is London, England, and that lately she has been in Chicago, and somebody brought her from that city to this place, but who it was, how and when she was brought, she seems unable or unwilling to tell. It was nearly 9 o'clock tonight when this woman hailed a cabman and ordered him to drive to the St. Nicholas.

She wore a black linen dress, was in her stocking feet and without hat.

From her waist to above her shoulders her body was bare. The Nicholas, Burnett and Gibson houses all refused to receive her. At the Gibson House the detective force took the case in hand and removed her at once to the House of Detention. An examination there revealed the fact that she had not a cent.

revealed the fact that she had not a cent and there was not a scrap of paper on her person and that all her effects were her black dress and her stockings.

The poice have been unable to ascertain how she got here. When asked about it she would say: "I came from behind the gray stone wall and went up hill, but they pushed me down wherever I went.up."

CINCINNATI-Sept. 11.—[By the Asso-ciated Press.] Miss Ava. whose disap-pearance from Chicago last night cre-ated a sensation and who was found by the police here today acting in an eccentric manner, told a long story to an Associated Press representative tonight. It is quite as singular as the pre-vious stories about her doings. Miss Ava said she was a Roman Catholic and was starting four homes for homeless dosaid she was a Roman Catholic and was starting four homes for homeless degraded children in Chicago. This displeased Archbishop Feehan who ordered her to a nunnery. She refused to go. He then ordered her to appear before the council at the Jesuit Coilege Church on Wednesday. She went in a carriage accompanied by Mrs. Bolton. On entering the church she found Archbishop Feehan and Father Kelly present. They presented her a paper which they presented her a paper which they told her to sign. She refused, saying that as a future American citizen she meant to use her money as she pleased. Thereupon Father Kelly arose and said: "This has gone far enough." At that moment two men came in at the side door and threw a cloth over her face. After that she knew nothing more until she felt as if she was on the lake. She thinks that was last night and that she had been overdesed with chloroform. The next she remembers was about 4 o'clock this afternoon when she was taken from the depot in a carriage to a certain place in this city though she did not then know what city it was. The President was greatly pleased with the cordial greeting of the country folks, who came from all neigh-boring villages to pay their respects. the children from the Port Elizabeth public school came to the car in a body and the President took each child by the hand. A Russian Jew approached the President and feelingly expressed his appreciation of the great privilege of being able in this country to approach the head of the Nation and receive his head of the Nation and receive his kind greeting. Fighting the Third Party Move. St. Louis, Sept. 11.-U. S. Hall, exresident of the Farmers' Alliance is in the city perfecting arrangements for holding a national anti-sub-treasury and anti third party convention which meets anti third party convention which meets here on Tuesday, September 15. In reference to this meeting Hall said: "As far as I am informed the approaching convention will not only be a grand success, but the largest representative gathering of farmers ever had. No one will be admitted to a seat as a delegate who is not opposed to the sub-treasury and land loan schemes, and other like measures of class legislation,"

McAuliffe Declared the Winner, but Gibbons Was Not Whipped.

The Referee's Decision a Surprise-Gib Protests Vigorously against the Rul-ing, but the Referee Refuses to Change It.

By Telegraph to The Times.

HOBOKEN (N. J..) Sept. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] Sporting men say that no prize-fight in the country since the great battle between Dempsey and Fitzsimmons attracted such universal interest as the lightweight championship match between Jack McAuliffe and Austin Gibbons at the Granite Association clubrooms tonight. It was stopped by the police in the sixth round and the referee, Jere Dunn, awarded the fight to McAuliffe amid much excitement. A great crowd was present at the battle. Before the fight McAuliffe the favorite at odds of to 80 and 100 to 70, but the bets were in small amounts. the men weighed in McAuliffe tipped the beam at just the limit, 135 pounds, while Gibbons weighed 130 ½. Gibbons was seconded by his brother Jim and Charley Norton. McAuliffe's squires were Jimmy Carroll, the middleweight, and Con McAuliffe. Gibbons was and Con McAuliffe. Gibbons was warmly received by the crowd when he came out, but it was nothing to the storm of applause that greeted McAuliffe later. After some fussing over the men Jimmy Carroll protested to the referee that Gibbons had a bandage on his left wrist. It was only a linen rag, but Carroll wanted it off.

"If you show me anything in the Queensbrery rules that forbids me wearing it," said Gibbons, "I'll take it off, otherwise I'll keep it on."

Carroll had to retire without having accomplished his purpose. Time was called at 9:30.

called at 9:30.

From the beginning McAuliffe forced matters. He went over to Gibbons' cor-ner and smashed away there. Gibbons countered a couple of times and when the round was over things were about McAuliffe had the best of the second round. He got in a couple of his noted straight-arm righthanders and cut Gib-bons badly under the left eye. Gibbons returned a fine righthander and Jack retreated. When the third round opened Gibbon when the third round opened chooses was looking all right again, but one more dash at his cheek reopened the cut, and blood flowed freely. He was very game, and went at McAuliffe with a rush. Here Mac showed his shifty tactics to great advantage, jumping away from Gibbon's rushes with the nimbleness of a cat, and then coming back. There were some good blows exchanged. were some good blows exchanged.

There were several clinches in the fourth round, and it seemed as though t Mac was as willing to rest as Gibbons when he broke away, though he renewed his attack without any sign of weakness. His two hands were flying on Gibbons body fast, but the latter succeeded in dodging, two of Mac's leads for the head. Gibbons also planted a rattling righthander on Mac's cheek. Mac had much the best of the round, however.

In the fifth, McAuliffe had his man burn of Philadelphia and Gen. Lewis T.

Michener of Indiana returned this evening from a three heart fairly dazed. He delivered two right-handers on Gibbons's jaw, and the re-cipient tottered a little. Mac thought he had him then, but Gibbons was not done yet. As Mac came at him over in his corner, Gibbons let go his right in a swinging blow, and caught Mac full on the jaw. McAuliffe fell back two steps, and for a moment it looked as though he were going to fall, but he managed to recover. He had apparently in-tended to finish Gibbons about that fresh. McAuliffe immediately smashed his left cheek again, opening the wound, and there was another stream of blood. Gibbons was not, however, badly winded. He made a crack at Mc-Auliffe's head, but missed, and then Jack went at him once more. A clinch followed and the men were pounding each other at close quarters, when Poice-Capt. Hayes made his way, through the ropes and declared that the fight the ropes and declared that the fight must stop.

There was great confusion and efforts were made to patch up a peace with the authorities, but it was no use. Then the audience expected to hear the reference say that he would have to make it a draw, but he did not. He shouted loudly: "McAuliffe has won."

Gibbons was very mad. He shouted out: "This decision is given against me because I have a little blood on my face. It's an outrage. I'm not defeated. I could go on fighting this way for two hours and I'm ready to do it."

Later in the evening Gibbons sought Referee Dunn and protested. Dunn said he could not change his decision; that it had to go, and that settled it.

Two Men Go Through a Train in Georgia and Escape.

Savannah. (Ga...) Sept. 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The night express on the Central Railroad, which left Savannah tonight, is reported to have been held up five miles west of here by two men, and the southern express car was robbed.

The robbers were passengers, and entered the express car as the train stopped at the crossing, and compelled the messenger to open the safe, which contained an amount of money. The sealed safe was not touched. The robbers left the cars after several shots were fired.

headquarters yesterday by Deputy Clerk Ashmore of the Supreme Court for filing in this city.

In the case of William Behlow pondent) vs. J. de Barth Shorb et ux. appellants,) the judgment and order of he trial court are affirmed, except that the court below is dirested to modify the judgment by striking therefrom th sum of $53, the costs of the appeal to be borne by the appellants.

This was an action on account of goods, wares and merchandise, alleged to have been sold and delivered by plaintiffs to defendants, between May 1, 1887, and March 1, 1888. and to have been of the value of $2843.25.

quash the summons served upon them upon the ground that it did not state the amount for which plaintiff proposed to take judgment; but the motion was denied, whereupon defendants demurred to the complaint on the grounds, first, that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, and second. that it was uncertain, ambiguous and unintelligible in that it did not appear therefrom where the goods were sold This demurrer was overruled, and de fendants then answerred, averring that the whole sum sued for had been paid. They also, by way of counter claim, averred that they sold and conveyed on August 23, 1888, a certain piece of land for the sum of $5,900, plaintiff agreeing to sell defendants the goods, do certain work for them, and pay the difference which remained. They therefore prayed judgment for $3056.75.

The case was tried by the court and the findings were in substance, that there were two distinct transactions between the parties, that the value of fendants then answerred, averring that there were two distinct transactions between the parties, that the value of the goods sold and delivered by plaintiff to defendants was $8883.21 and that besides the land nothing was paid to defendant, who was awarded judgment for the sum of $3261.21 and costs

The judgment and order of the trial court in the case of Fred S. Gould (respondent) vs. O. A. Stafford (appellant) are reversed, and the cause remanded for a new trial.

This is an action for damages resulting from the alleged diversion of water by defendant from Montecito Creek in Santa Barbara county and for a perpet ual injunction against such diversithe future. Both parties claim to b riparian proprietors upon both sides of the creek, defendant's land being about one mile above that of plaintiff.

REMANDED UNTIL TODAY. John E. Dunlop appeared before Judge Clark yesterday upon a writ of habeas corpus and demanded his release from the custody of the Sheriff on a techni-cality, the judgment convicting him of battery and sentencing him to pay a fine of $200 therefor, with the alternative of sixty days' imprisonment in the County Jail, having been entered upon the justice's docket after the prisoner had been committed. The Court being unable to take the matter up yesterday, re-manded the petitioner until this morn-

Dunlop was committed by Justice W. D. Morton of Pomona, by whom he was convicted of battery, committed upon the person of one J. E. Bettler.

IMPORTANT CIVIL SUIT. In Department Three, yesterday Judge Wade and a jury were occupied in the trial of the case of Clementa Cruz de Coronel vs. Lewis and J. Wolfskill, a suit to recover the sum $9000 alleged to be due on a promis-sory note dated December 28, 1882. and payable without interest, in five years. Lewis Wolfskill is dead, and as he left no estate, the plaintiff sued his nephew, John W. Wolfskill, who, however, repudiates the signature to the note, which he did not sign. Messrs, del Valle and Munday represent the plaintiff's interests, while the defendant is represented by Messrs. White and Variel. The case will in all probability last several days. Judge McKinley denied the application of Lillie Bailey for her release from the County Jail upon a writ of haheas corpus yesterday morning, and remanded the prisoner to the custody of the Sheriff. The petitioner was recently held to answer to the charge of robbery by Justice Stanton, she being accused by Andreas Monroy of having drugged him and stolen $1000 from his drugged him and stolen $1000 from his person on the night of the 26th ult. Her attorney, J. M. Brooks, Esq., argued, however, that the evidence introduced at the preliminary examination showed that the complaining witness, Monroy, had given the woman the money; that no robbery had been committed; but the Court could not be induced to see the matter in that light, and held that there was probable cause for the action of the committing magisfor the action of the committing magistrate. Ah Sew, the Chinaman charged with having "rolled" Officer Todd and stolen a silver watch from his person, under the impression that the guardian of the peace was asleep, appeared before Judge McKinley yesterday morning, and acting under the advice of his counsel, R. Dunnigan, Esq., withdrew his plea of not guilty, and substituted therefor his plea of guilty to the charge of grand larceny. The Court thereupon sentenced the defendant to imprisonment at San Oventin penitentiary for ment at San Quentin penitentiary for one year, remarking that that was the minimum punishment provided for the offense by the statute. Judge McKinley took occasion, from the bench, to severely censure Officer Todd for his action in the premises in deliberately placing the temptation to rob him in

In Department Five yesterday the case of F. The trial of the case against Ah Sing, the Chinaman charged with having robbed Dr. Tom She Bin of $140 on the night of July $1, last, was resumed before Judge McKinley and a jury in Department Six yesterday morning and occupied their attention all day. At 5 o'clock p. m., however, both sides had closed, and the matter will probably reach the jury this morning.

MRS. TIMMERMANS' TRIALS.

Still Persecuted and Annoyed by Her ex-Husband.

A Life of Ill-treatment and Abuse—Threats to Regain Possession of His Children by Assailing Their Mother's Character.

Although Mrs. Mary Timmermans has been granted a decree of divorce from her husband, John M. Timmermans, and the custody of her two children has been awarded to her by the Court, her troubles have by no means ceased.

On Wednesday morning last Timmer-mans, who had evidently been watching for his former wife, espied her on a passing car on Broadway, which he at once boarded. He then proceeded to abuse her in her native tongue, Dutch, whereupon she stopped the car and at-tempted to escape from him on foot. He also left the car, however, and followed her down the street, talking to her. As a last resort the poor woman called a policeman and asked him to ar rest her former husband, but as the guardian of the peace had seen no of-fence committed, he politely refused and advised her to get a warrant. Mrs. Timmermans, followed by the man whose names he bore, then went to the office of her attorney, but even there she was not safe from the insults of her persecutor; and after leaving there she again called upon a policeman to protect her, but without success, as Timmermans had omitted no breach of the peace in the officer's presence.

Finally she managed to elude her pursuer, but on reaching her home she found that he had been there and had found that he had been there and had threatened to regain possession of her children by showing her to be an unfit person to have control over them.

In an interview with a Times reporter, Mrs. Timmerman stated that her life, for years past, has been one of contin-ual persecution at her husband's hands, and in spite of all her efforts to es-cape, he has followed her from place to place and renewed his brutal conduct, until she has almost resolved to take place and renewed his brutal conduct, until she has almost resolved to take desperate measures and give him his deserts at her own hands.

She and her husband were married in Holland in 1882, and their troubles commenced about a year later, when she discovered that he was a Catholic and had been a priest in the East Indies. They patched up their grievances, however, and came to America, settling in New York. His treatment of her, however, was unendurable, and after he had brutally beaten her on several occasions, she left him and went to Chicago. He soon followed her again, however, and renewed his brutalities, when she again left him, and sought safety in Iowa. It was not long before he again turned up and she was again subject to ill-treatment at his hands. She caused his arrest finally; and he was taken out and whipped by six able-bodied men. Even this lesson did not have much effect on him; and Mrs. Timmermans came out to California. Her husband located heragain at Santa Rosa, and renewed his harsh treatment, although he was arrested and fined a number of times. From Santa Rosa the poor woman went to San Francisco, thence to Alameda, back to Oakland, thence to Fresno, where Timmermans was required to serve a 300-day sentence for wife beating, and finally to this city, where he has been arrested several times.

Soil claimed by the best judges, to be even better than that of Rediands and Riverside. Water supply (1 inch to 4 acres) equal to the best in Southern California. 9000 acres soid in less than a year in small tracts, mostly 10 and 20 acres each. Prices have steadily advanced from $50 an acre one year ago to $110 an acre now, and will advance to $120 an acre next month. We have no desire to sell this land to any but actual improvers, but, comparing the prices with the $400, $500 and $600 land of Rediands and Riverside, it is unnecessary to have much foresight to see that there is a good speculative value in it now.

We have a few 10-acre tracts for sale from early buyers at $50 an acre; a few at $55 an acre; several at $100 an acre; over 2000 acres at $110 ac acre; a few tons at $220, $123, $155 and $250 acre. Also a few large undivided tracts at still lower prices.

There is no "boom" here, still, if you are going to buy, you save money just the same by buying at once.

The report of the secretary was read, and from his statement it is evident that the chamber is about out of debt, and everything will be cleared up by the last of the present month. The membership has been swelled to about seven hundred and is still increasing.

The following letter from Richard Gird was read and adopted:

In pursuance of the promise made in

In pursuance of the promise made in answer to your invitation to appear before you, I submit the following, to be read at your next meeting if the opportunity presents itself:

Early appreciating the importance to Southern California of the beet-sugar industry and believing in the special adaptation of our soil and climate for that purpose, and fully realizing the necessity of making a success at the outset, i secured the co-operation of Mr. Henry T. Oxnard, with an understanding that if all the conditions proved to be favorable, he and his approved to be favorable, and reading a proved to be favorable, he and his approved to be favorable, he and his approved to the favorable of the analysis of the beet; studied the agricultural methods of those countries where the culture had been successful; planted numerous analyses, running through more than two years' of beets at all stages of growth and maturity and grown in all the different soils, thus demonstrating many important advantages due to our soil and semi-tropical climate over beets grown in the rigorous climate the East and Europe to be fore understood and of great economical value to the cultivator and manufacturer. At every step I gained positive knowledge, and left nothing to chance. The accumulated proof thus obtained, and the analyses of soil and water being satisfactory to Mr. Oxnard and his friends, a contract was made and signed last December, and the result is that in less than eight months a perfectly operated sugar factory, (with wide spread fields of beets, giving employment to nundreds of people) turning out quantities of refined sugar from the highest grade beets ever worked in a factory of grown in any country, now existion, patient watching and work necessary to make all this possible without chance of failure, to organize the (forces and methods, to prepare the land, plow, thin and cultivate over 2000 cares, and finally to harvest and deliver at the factory 300 tons of beets per day, would take more time than I could possibly devote to it now. Cli was the sugar bready of the sugar precision of sugar per an try has not been sacrificed, but encouraged, and that is not the only advantage we shall derive, as each factory, similar to the one we have built here means an outlay of about $500.000 and the United States will require 1000 of such factories to supply it with sugar in 1000. The building of these factories will start up the coal and iron mines, as well as the machine shops all over the United States, giving employment directly to thousands and give a fargreater impetus to our national prosperity than could be obtained in any other channel, not even excepting reciprocity. We will also give our farmers an opportunity to diversify their crops, and we all know the great advantages to be derived from that source. Under the old tariff the industry never thrived, but with the stimulus of the bounty within the past eight months beet-sugar factories have started all over the United States. At least twenty States are, in my opinion, well adapted to the sugar beet. We have the soil, climate and capital necessary to become the greatest sugar-producing country in the world, and as soon as we have acquired the knowledge of the industry which will enables us to compete successfully with those countries of Europe, with the aid of the stimulus given by our last Congress we can hope to lead the world in the production of sugar in the next fifteen or twenty years.

the stimulus given by our last Congress we can hope to lead the world in the production of sugar in the next fifteen or twenty years.

You will excuse me for the length of this communication, but before closing I wish to say a few words regarding the advantages of Southern California, and, the reasons which induced us to build here.

In the first place the climatic conditions are such that a beet-sugar factory by selecting its soils, can extend its planting and manufacturing season much longer than in any other part of the world. If such is the case, as I believe it will be proved by us next year, you will have in Southern California a natural advantage; I say "if" because it has not as yet been proved, although both Mr. Gird and myself believe it can be done and we intend solving the problem this coming year. A great advantage is the fact that having no rains after a certain season, the crop can be cultivated and harvested at very much less expense than anywhere else that I know of. This year's experience has proved that conclusively. To counterbalance the advantages, fuel is very dear and transportation is not cheap, although I must in justice say that, looking at it from their standpoint, the Southern Pacific has tried to be liberal, and wants to encourage the development of such manufacturing industries as these. In conclusion I want to say that too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Gird, for he has had courage and faith from the beginning, and had I not known him to be a man who carries out his centracts to the letter and one in whom I would implicitly rely, the advantages possessed by Southern California for beet sugar would yet have to be proved, The agricultural problem offers the greatest difficulty, and Mr. Gird is solving it in a very satisfactory way, and certainly deserves the thanks of all in so doing, for I can assure you that the establishment of such factories in a new country totally unaccustomed to the requirements of the industry is n. light task, and had we been obliged to solve the agricu

I wish to take this occasion to thank the itizens of Southern California, one and all, for the hearty support you are giving us, by your interest in the industry and hope to merit still further your zealous support in our efforts to place the beet sugar industry of Southern California on an impregnable basis.

I remain sincerely and respectfully yours HENRY T. OXNARD. The matter of appointing five delegates to the irrigation convention to be held in Salt Lake City on the 15th inst. was discussed, but no action was taken After some further discussion the meeting adjourned.

This issue, consisting of 20 large pages, contains a full and accurate description of the progress made during the past few years in the development of Southern California's agricultural resources, the present condition of the country, the crops, prices and markets, water and irrigation, cost of land, cultivated and uncultivated, and openings for more growers, together with accurate accounts of the fruit and other crops gathered or to be gathered during the season, and graphic descriptions of the orchards and fields as they have been actually found by our reporters and special correspondents.

This is, without exception, the most complete description of the agricultural resources of Southern California; of Seven country are described in detail Los Angeles, Urange, San Ber-nardino, San Diego, Ventura and Fresno, the representative country of the great San Joaquin Valley. The matter is thoroughly practical in character, dealing with just those features that a person who is thinking of coming to settle in Southern California would wish to know. Here will be found the actual prices at which land may be purchased in the vaknow. Here will be round the actual prices at which land may be purchased in the various localities; what may be raised; the prices per acre realized from year to year for products: numerous examples of returns from fruit and other crops; interviews with successful horticulturists who started on a small scale, showing how they managed, and directions where to obtain cheap land, which, it is shown, may still be had in this section. The issue forms a comprehensive bird's-eye picture of Southern California as it is.

Incidentally, in the course of the description, are given valuable hints from actical men as to the culture of the apricot, fig, orange, lemon, walnut, olive and practical men as to the culture of the apricot, fig. orange, lemon, walnut, olive and other fruits are not for a day.

The question of sewage disposition in Los Angeles is not a very agreeable one. but it seems that it must be plunged into again. It is not a savory subject, but a very important one, and will shortly be once more presented to the citizens for their decision. It needs but casual investigation to discover that there is a very strong and persistent movement in official circles for the construction of an outfall sewer to the ocean, a movement which it has been shown does not meet the approval of a majority of our people, for it has twice met with decisive defeat at the So strong and so persistent is this effort to put through an enter, prise of which a majority of the citi zens disapprove that extra caution is suggested in sifting the arguments advanced in its favor. It has even been intimated that the hill-water question would be held in suspense, club-like, over the heads of the voters, to induce them to first approve an ocean outfal system. This can scarcely be true, as no surer plan could be adopted to defeat the outfall project than this. It would open the eyes of the most obtuse to a conviction that something more than the mere hygienic needs of the

The application of sewage to land is no ner theory, it having been in successful practice in Europe for over two hun dred years, and has since been adopted in several American cities.

Whether the sewage be crude or pre cipitated, these smells may be expected to arise. It is next to impossible that the discharge of matter of so offensive and putrescible a character can be without tending to preduce grave evils in the places where they become exposed. Whether duce grave evils in the the sewage be discharged into the sea or into tidal estuaries, or into inland running streams, these evils must be present in a greater or less degree. In what would seem to be the most favorable cases; namely, a discharge upor the seacoast, great nuisance often occurs." This high opinion is particu ocean outfall for Los Angeles.

The application of the sewage to the soil is nature's own method of purification. Her mysterious processes at once go to work to transform it into innocuous matter and food for plant life. While many of the strenuous ocean outfall advocates have been forced to admit the advantages of sewage irrigation, which are ten times as stirking in clayey soils in the moist climate of England, they take refuge in the plea that, while the sewage may be profitably used during the summer, an outfall is needed to carry off the surplus during the wet Without denying the possimonths. pility that there may be a substratum of facts upon which to base this asserion, we say that, in view of what ha past-considering the partisan-like advocacy which has been used and is still being used to push forward the outfall proposition—the onus of prov-ing such necessity should be thrown upon the other side, and it should be very thoroughly proved. That there are serious reaso ons for doubting the necessity may be judged from the fact that in the report of the Board of En-gineers upon the disposal of sewage to the Mayor and Council, presented December 23, 1889-a report which favored an ocean outfall-it was admitted that in the Vernon and Florence dis-tricts there were sixteen persons, owning 571 acres, who would take the sewage during the wet season. Berlin disposes of the sewage of about 1,000,000 persons, both in summer and winter, during rains and when dry, on these 571 acres would be just about enough for the sewage of the 50,000 people of Los Angeles.

Another fact that dictates much caution on part of the public in considering the proposition for an outfall sewer is the remarkable reduction which has been made in the estimated cost of the -from $787,400 to about one half of that amount. Allowing for dif-ferences made in the plans. the public is justified in asking whether there was at a large margin for "contingencies" on the original estimate, and whether it may not be possible to squeeze such remarkably elastic figures as these still further.

The broad proposition to be again considered is whether we shall pour into the sea valuable fertilizing matter which the land needs, when no hygienic requirements demand the sacrifice

"Our" Commercial Travelers.

Vice-President C. F. Crocker, of the Southern Pacific Company, is quoted as saying that his company, realizing that much trade has been diverted from San Francisco, which he denominates as "our city," has under consideration a plan to bring the trade back again. We are trying," says he, "to introduce a system to enable commercial travelers from this city to enjoy more privileges in the matter of railroad travel in order that our merchants may be benefited. This is highly commendable in Col. Fred Crocker, provided he considers the fact that in addition to "our" city and "our" merchants, there are other and merchants whose right rights are entitled to respect. Liberal concessions to commercial drummers are profitable in the long run to the railroads, and the wholesale houses in Los Angeles would appreciate them fully as well as hose of San Francisco. It is not likely that the Southern Pacific Company' wil undertake to practice a species of crimination that would not only be unjust but illegal, for if the official's words are to be taken literally, implying an exclusion of other cities from promised benefits, the matter would be plain violation of the California railroad law. Wherefore we are constrained to believe that when the conhouses of Los Angeles must either par-ticipate in the benefits or there will be a two-em dash of a fight.

Judged by this standard it may be safely said that the piece is made the best safely said that the piece is made the best of its kind that has been seen in this city for of its kind that has been seen in this city for quite a long time, by sheer force of merit on the part of the performers. Presented by another set of players, the impression produced might be entirely different. Joseph Ott gives an eccentric character sketch that is remarkable for its originality of invention and well sustained presentation. It is something almost impossible to describe but it is sufficient to say that its dry humor was evidently say that its dry humor was evidently thoroughly appreciated by the entire audi-ence. tin O'Nelll make a very strong team of low comedians.

The ladies are numerous and indulge in all the luxury of changes of fine raiment and occasionat scantiness of draperies incident to the vagaries of farce-comedy and being fair to look upon, the fact that they do not take much part in the action may be more easily excused. Kate Castleton is the only busy woman in the company, and the number of times she changes her costume would be difficult to count. She has gained in every way since her last appearance here and possesses a really sine vein of comedy which in some better piece might, it seems, find proper recognition. The duet from Ruddygore in which she takes part is the most charming thing of the evening, and would be improved in its effect if she would sing it with one of the characters whose appearance was less grotesque than Max Miller's.

FRIDAY MORNING CLUB

School Question Disensed by the President. About eighty ladies congregated yes-terday morning in the rooms in the rear of the Woman's Exchange in the Potoock, which have just been up for the Friday Morning Club. The spacious hall is handsomely carpeted and seated with oaken chairs, and the members may well be pleased with their

The president, Mrs. C. M. Severance, in calling the club to order made a few appropriate remarks relative to the changed conditions under which the ladies met in their new club home, and expressing the gratitude all felt toward the efficient committees who had worked so faithfully toward this end. Passing on to other things she referred briefly so faithfully toward this end. Passing on to other things she referred briefly to the school question. She stated that while she felt immensely interested in having a capable, experienced woman on the board she knew it to be impossible for her to serve. "The friends of this measure on the board," she continued, "valiant, true knights they are of the nineteenth century type, found that on the part of the opponents a spirit had been developed and acknowledged (in private), which threatened not only the position of our best teachers, but of all women teachers—a spirit of bitter womanly opposition to both women teachers in the schools and women on the board—and that the issue might best be fought and that the issue might best be fought and that the issue might best be fought out now. And so it happens that I am an unwilling participant in a struggle for a place which I have not sought and cannot fill, but in a cause which it becomes us all as women, as mothers, as citizens, to further to our full ability."

The paper of the morning was one on "Clubs," by Miss Fette, who presented a mass of historical facts on this subject, concluding with some reference to the establishment, aims and continuance of

A brief discussion followed on various topics, one being the matter of incorporating the club and having a stock company and a building of its own, which will probably be done in the future on a similar plan to that of the Wimodausis Club of Washington, the Sorosis Club of New York and the New England Club of Boston

It is an interesting fact, by the way, that Mrs. C. M. Severance, the honored presuent of this club, was one of the prime movers of the first club organ. ized in the United States twenty-tw years ago, and was its president for the first three years of its existence. Among the vice-presidents of that club— the New England—were Mrs. Julia —the New England—were Mrs. Julia

It is hoped that Mrs. Margaret Collie Graham will present her paper on "The Uncharitableness of Woman" at the next meeting. The interest of the ladies is largely centered at present on the com-ing entertainments to be given for the benefit of the exchange, the first of which occurs this evening at the Los Angeles Theater and which will undoubtedly be generously patronized. SOME REMARKABLE EXHIBITS. MONTREAL, Sept. 11. — [Special.] Great interest has been manifested here in the new Edison electric mining appliances exhibited in the electrical ex position. The drill is very simple in construction hav-ing no moving parts except the plunger and nothing that will be affected by moisture. This device, it is said by exmoisture. Favors a Change.

The Denver News of the 5th inst., nnder the head, "Department of Arizona," contains the following:

Considerable interest was excited in town by the special in yesterday's News relative to the transfer of the army headquarters of the Department of Arizona to Denver. The information rests in a stronger shape than that of a rumor, as stated yesterday. The last issue of the Army and Navy Journal, published on Saturday last, contains an editorial on the subject that seems to have been inspired. After describing the advantages that would accrue from the transfer, the editorial boldly declares that Gen. McCook, commander of the Department of Arizona, favors the change. That fact alone imparts the tinge of a strong probability to the transfer.

A News reporter visited the omce of Capt. Hay of the army, in the railroad building, to obtain further intelligence on the subject. "I noticed your special," said the officer in charge, "and have heard of the matter before indirectly. We would not be apt to receive any direct information, since we do not form a part of the department of Arizona. We belong to the department of Arizona department, is now in Los Angeles, which is at the extreme western limit of the department, is now in Los Angeles, which is at the extreme western limit of the department, and hence is not a desirable place for that purpose. Before the headquarters could be removed to Denver. Colorado would have to be shifted to the department of Arizona."

"Have you seen the Army and Navy Journal?"

"Yes, here it is. It is received as good authority among army people, and what it nal?"

"Yes, here it is. It is received as good authority among army people, and what it says goes. The fact that it represents Gen. McCook as in favor of the change should have great weight. One thing is certain. If the department commander desires the change it will be very likely to take place. On business principles, however, I should think it more desirable to transfer the headquarters of the Department of the Platte to Denver than those of the Department of Arizona. It would be a more central location for the former than for the latter."

So far as known in this city, there has been no talk of a change in the army headquarters for some time past. It is generally conceded by army men famil-iar with the situation, that Los Angeles is the proper point for the headquarters of the department of Arizona, as it is the nearest point to the field where troops are required, and on account of its railroad facilities, and Gen. Schofield so expressed himself when in this city. At any rate, Gen. McCook is not city. At any rate, den. McCook is not in favor of the change, the Army and Navy Gazette to the contrary notwithstanding, and as long as he has anything to say in the matter, his headquarters will remain where they are, in Los An-

Bob Farrell Declares That He Talked With the Missing Man at Chico.

Superintendent Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday received the following letter, which speaks for CHICO, Cal., Sept. 9, 1891.

CHICO, Cal., Sept. 9, 1891.

My Dear Wiogins: You will be as much surprised as I was, when I tell you that I met H. J. Hanchette this morning. I got on the train this morning at Tehama to come here, and the first man I got my eyes on was Hanchette. Now you will think I am mistaken, but I am not. I know the man too well; worked with him too long. I went up to him, slapped him on the shoulder, and called him by name. All he would say was that I was mistaken; but I know that & am not. In looks he was not changed & bits His beard is just the same, but his tothes are not so good as they were. He is now wearing one of the suits he used to wear in Los Angeles. His actions are the same, but his voice is changed, and is very much harsher.

To one party here he gave his name as H. J. Mitchell. At the postomee this evening he inquired for letters as John Blackman. To me he gave the name of Hamilton. The only thing he would admit was that he had a wife and child.

He said that he had never heard of the city of Los Angeles. He said he was going to the new mines. Pine Nut, in Nevada.

Now there is no use. I cannot be mistaken. This is Hanchette, not his double-nor his ghost, because ghosts don't smoke cigarettes.

I leave here Friday for Greenville in Plumas county. I am traveling for the Co-operative Cigar Company of San Francisco, and in about three weeks will be in Pine Nut. My health is about as usual, but I am considerably shaken up over meeting Hanchette.

I am certain there is no mistake in this. If you care to answer this, direct me at Susanville, Lassen county. Also send me two or three Los Angeles papers. Have not seen one since I left. Had a letter from home yesterday. Hope this will find you well. I remain, yours truly.

While the officers of the Chamber of Commerce do not take much stock in the letter, it is very difficult to understand how Farrell can be mistaken. He was intimately acquainted with Hanchette, worked with him for months on the Herald, and could have no possible motive in writing the letter if it is not true. Telegrams have been sent to Chico, and other points, and it is probable that the mystery will be solved in the next day or two. the next day or two.

The Gov. Stoneman Home Tract

Is well adapted to the growth of Citrus Fruits. Since this property was put upon the market three local nursery men have purchased tracts to set out nursery stock upon. These men know all about the soil and the unfailing water supply. Without good soil and plenty of water their enterprise would prove a failure. There are still some choice tracts for sale.

F. Q. Story of Alhambra has purchased ten acres, which he intends setting next spring to Navel oranges.

Among the purchasers of the Gov. Stoneman Home Tract, since it was put upon the market, we are pleased to mention, among others, Attorney J. A. Graves, F. Q. Story, E. Pollard and J. C. Wallace, whose sagacity for good bargains is admitted by all who know them. These gentlemen reside in the vicinity of this tract, and know all about the title, the property, and all the conditions surrounding it—having lived in the vicinity for years. These facts being known should set at rest all idle rumors concerning it. If parties will call upon EARLEY & CONGER, No. 39 Bryson-Bonebrake Block, Los Angeles, or No. 56 East Colorado Street, Pasadena, they can see plats of the tract and also learn of the lots unsoid. To such, we can now assure them that there are still some of the most destrable portions remaining. We ask parties to investigate. The agents will take pleasure in giving information and showing them over the property.

The eastern market for California dried fruits is summarized in the following dispatch from New York:
"Slightly more interest in new California raisins is manifested by local and out-of-town jobbers, but thus far individual pur-chases of more than single carload are the exception. Jobbers are taking orders for Valencia for the retail trade at 6½ to 7½c for off stalk and 7½ to 8½c for layers. It for oil stalk and 1% to 8% for layers. It is no secret that these low prices are some obstacle to marketing California raisins at prices asked by Pacific Coast packers, $1.20 per box f. o. b. there, for three-crown loose and $1.70 for layers of good brands of domestic fruit. This looks comparatively cheap, but the trade is not control to a proper to a part of the comparation of the comparat anxious by any means, and as it comes to 5 and 10c more, which is asked for most brands, the tendency is in the direction of extreme caution. Interest in prunes, apricots and peaches gains headway very slowly."

Sales of California fruits in the Last to-day were as follows:

In Chicago the Porter Bros. Company sold four cars: Bartlett pears brought $2.05 to $2.50: Beurre Clairgeaus, $1.35 to $1.45: Howells, $1.45 to $1.70: egg plums, $1.10 to $1.35: Gross prunes, $1.25: Fallenberg plums, $1.35 to $1.40: half crates Tokays, $1.45 to $2.85; half crates Muscats, 90c to $1.40; Beurre hardy pears, $1.50. In New York the Porter Bros. Company old Bartlett pears at $3.30 to $3.50.

WAKING UP.

That's What the Board of Trade is Doing.

A Well-attended Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Gov. Markham Addresses His G. A. R. Comrades.

portant School Election Held Today Let a Full Vote be Polled—Pertinent Points About Prominent

The Board of Trade held a very satisfac-bry business meeting yesterday afternoon, resident W. U. Masters presiding. The to be taken by the board in the matter of issuing a pamphlet descriptive of Pasadena and her surroundings as they now exist. The desirability of such a publication, if confined to truth, facts and figures, and those rather understated than otherwise, ras generally conceded.

The discussion brought about several complications, but the board got down to bretty solid work before adjournment.

Everything from a transcontinental rail-

Everything from a transcontinental railway to an irrigating ditch was scrutinized and had the Col. Sellers' epithet applied to it, but after all the main chance was deemed to be a pamphlet of facts and "them figgers."

The spirit of the meeting was decided and unanimous in its opposition to "boom literature." Mr. Early hit off the thought that pervaded the meeting—"We want something that tells of the prices of properties here, the advantages we enjoy in the way of scenery, churches, schools, residences, orchards, and all of our wellingh innumerable advantages, and let it be residences, orchards, and all of our wellnigh innumerable advantages, and let it be all true, so we can send it to our relatives, friends and old business acquaintances and endorse every word that we send them. I will take 1000 copies of such a publication, and all of our business men will be glad to subscribe for such a thing as that, but I don't want any boom pamphlet.'

Hon. A. C. Fish said he had found it necessary to write down his thoughts on Southern California on various occasions and publish them in pamphlet form in order to satisfactorily reply to the numerous inquiries he received for information on the subject as it appeared to him and said it was useless to exaggerate, for people who have never visited California regard the truth on California as an exaggeration of possibibilities and much ria regard the truth on California as an exaggeration of possibibilities and much more of existing facts. He said that when he first came here he could have purchased one-half the present site of Pasadena for $960, but did not want it, and that only last month he paid a large sum for a house and lot, and felt that he had driven a good bargain. He, too, would shun another city lot boom, but acreage has an intrinsic value that in the palmiest days of the effervescent boom was never reached in prices quoted. Dr. O. H. Conger was in favor of a statistical pamphlet, but would expunge from the "record of facts" the antics of our water companies.

G. C. Brown, always loaded on the water question, said he was surprised to the catterious of Pasadena so ill-informed on the water question—that the water comthe water question—that the water com-panies had more than one night labored to enlighten them, and that there was more water flowing—percolating is the phrase Mr. Brown used, between the Little Santa Anita and the west bank of the Arroyo Seco to flood out every gopher and cotton-tail in the intervening area. That he had sat at the reservoir in '79 (Pasadena's '49) with a shotrum while he irrigated the with a shotgun while he irrigated the whole rancho—this was the summer before he is accused of boring for olive oil. Mr. Brown did not bore for oil; his only object in living is to work the water question and, although he has no oil, he would not put oil on that question if he had a barrel full. On the water question he is an authority, and the water question he is an authority, and it is instructive, and amusing as well, to hear his defense of that important com-hear his defense of that important commodity.

He does not vanquish worth a cent, and really seems to prevail in all contests relating to water and the "percolation" thereof. Judge Magee, J. N. Wood, Councilman Clarke, W. G. Benedict, J. A. Buchanan and M. E. Wood all discussed the proposition regularly under consideration, and practically agreed upon the question of the imperative need for a publication of some kind, and it would be as easy to round up a herd of Arizona steers to an electric, light as to get any member of the Pasadena Board of Trade to dabble in a boom or subscribe forbits literature.

Mayor T. P. Lukens as chairman of the Committee on Printing, submitted a letter from Prof. C. F. Holder, relative to adverfrom Prof. C. F. Holder, relative to advertising in the magasine to be shortly launched. This letter and also one from Mr. Fish was read by Secretary Rossiter, and on motion of Dr. O. H. Conger, the meeting decided to publish a pamphlet, and the matter of number of copies and price was left to the standing committee on Printing and Advertising with instructions that the committee report Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The following gentlemen paid the membership fee to the secretary and will be forwarded certificates of membership by post: W. D. McGilvray, J. H. Woodworth, W. G. Benedict, James Clarke, James Mc Lachlan, A. C. Fish and A. C. Armstrong.

The meeting then adjourned to Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Committee on Advertising will meet in Secretary Rossiter's office to decide upon the report.

Pasadena's philanthropist, Hon. A. G. Pasadena's philanthropist, Hon. A. G. Throop, Father Throop as he is more familiarly known, advocated the pamphlet and brought forth much applause when he spoke of the new enterprise into which he is about to invest the accumulations of his long, active and useful lifetime. "Schools are better than prisons, and we have to have one or other. I will give Pasadena a university, if she appreciates and supports it I shall be glad; but if she does not it will rob no one, for the money is mine, I earned it in a life of 80 years, and I give it all cheerfully." He said: "I am going to issue something similar in connection with the university, within a few days. It will be written by Prof. M. M. Parker, whom I regard as a gentleman and a scholar; he is not of the same denomination to which I belong, but I do not care for that, when I meet a man, or whether he belongs to any denomination, only that he is a man."

A GREAT OCCASION. The members of John F. Godfrey Post, G.A.R., and the Woman's Relief Corps of Pasadena, will long remember Thursday

ganizations.

The attractions consisted of a meeting at the post's room in Strong's Hall, where The attractions consisted of a meeting at the post's room in Strong's Hall, where numerous new members were mustered in, and an exceptionally interesting address was delivered by Dr. R. J. Mohr on the subject of pigeon-post films, accompanied by microscopic illustrations, in which the eminent microscopist described the value of such films in war times for receiving photographs of messages which are sent hither and thither by means of carrier pigeons.

The hall contained a large number of comrades, the guests being chiefly from the Gelcich Post of Los Angces. At the conclusion of this meeting all adjourned to Williams Hall, where an elaborate banquet was in waiting, prepared by the deft hands of the members of the Relief Corps. During the feast all went merry as a wedding bell, and the enthusiasm reached its climax when Gov. Markham made his appearance shortly after. The Governor was introduced by Capt. C. M. Simpson, and the State's chief executive expressed his appreciation of being on such an occasion in a most felicitous speech, which elicited prolonged applause. Other speeches of a happy nature followed and the company finally instructions.

SCHOOL ELECTION TODAY.

Today an election will be held at the Wilson Grammar school to decide whether or not this district will raise by taxation an additional $5,500 for the proper maintenance of the public schools for a full session of 9 months for the coming season. While the matter has not been very generally discussed, it is to $6$ desired that a full vote be polled, so that the sentiment of the community will be clearly expressed, on the question at issue. The only objections of ar raised against voting the additional tax is that we are too heavily taxed already. This may be so and yet in the light of a new season of pronounced prosperity it would seem that we should progress and not retrograde in all matters of public interest. Certainly our schools are a feature of the town. The splendid buildings are pointed out with pride to our visitors and we justly boast of the exceptional educational facilities here afforded. It would seem a pity to curtail the school term when a very nominal increase of taxation will be sumcient to meet the deficiency. Neighboring towns have voted generously this season in favor of the schools. Will Pasadena do likewise? It is for the people to decide.

The polls will be one.

While entering the valley Thursday evening, a black bear crossed the road in front of them and trotted letisurely down the mountain. He didn't seem to be a bit afraid. The party is composed of Rev. C. E. Harris, pastor of the Baptist Church, Pasadena; Rev. T. S. Crandall of the Baptist churches of Alhambra and South Pasadena, and George Taylor, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. of Pasadena. They will remain a week or more. Their camp is under the Royal Arches, and they are enjoying the scenery of the valley greatly. READ THIS AND TAKE HEART.

There has been some talk here about the failure of the deciduous fruit crop, in that it is so large that satisfactory prices are not obtainable. The following lines, clipped from an eastern paper in the form of a telegram from Easton, Md., may furnish consolation for hungry and dissatisfied souls hereabouts: "The peach business this year is a bigger failure than last year, when there was very little crop. The trouble this year is that there is too big a crop, and prices are away down. Many growers have become disguisted with the business and are digging up their orchards and carting away the trees. The local houses are buying peaches as low down as 5 cents a basket and have had to refuse offered invoices at that price because of lack—of labor to handle them."

Pasadena orchardists have not quite reached that stage of despair, where digging up the trees is regarded as the only remedy for low prices.

THE SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

Two years ago yesterday three couples of Pasadenians were united in marriage. The sextette of happy ones started off together, and all spent their honeymoon at Coronado. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newby and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Keese. One year ago yesterday the first annual anniversary of their weddings was celebrated very pleasantly at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Newby on Euclid avenue, and yesterday the second anniversary was commemorated in a manner equally enjoyable by a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Van Nuys. It is the purpose of the six interested parties to continue holding similar gatherings on each succeeding 11th of September.

made a visit to South Riverside, and from there went to the Temescal mines. The object of his inspection was to ascertain whether or not the stories told as to the mines and as to their development were true. Mr. Perris related to a Times correspondent the result of his investigation. "I will tell you," said the gentleman, "that all of the statements that have been sent out with regard to the Temescal tin mines since the departure of Col. Robinson are misleading. While I have the utmost regard and respect for the Colonel, at the same time the situation and the condition of the mines did not in my judgment bear him out in the expenditure which he made. "At present Hugh Stevens is in charge of the affairs of the San Jacinto Estate, Limited, which is largely made up of English stockholders. Capt. Harris, who, as I understand it, is an expert, has charge directly of the works.

"About a hundred people are now employed at the mines. Of this number ninety are working under ground. Only fifteen are old country men—by that I mean men who were born outside of the United States. "Until recently the Temescal mines were regarded as a mere prospect. Now they—and by "they" I mean the English company—regard them as real mines, from which they can reap a rich harvest.

"As near as I can learn, about $750,000 has been invested in the entire property by the English syndicate. The present management propose to conduct the mines on the principle that no more money is to be drawn from the stockholders on the other side of the ocean.

"The test mill which has been put up is merely a toy. There is no telling what will be developed at Temescal. There may be enough tin there to supply the world. In the meantime it iil becomes any paper in this section to put a damper on the enterprise."

To a disinterested outsider it looks though the fruit-growers of Southern Cali-fornia were going to realize about nothing out of their crop. A combination of some kind or character has been made which covers the peach and apricot crop as far as dried fruits are concerned.

dried fruits are concerned.

The buyers are making the utmost endeavor to bear the market. They tell all kinds of stories to force or to induce the grower to sell.

Among other things they say that last year, under a report of an extremely short crop, dried fruits reached an extremely high ngure both here in California and on the market in the East.

high figure both here in California and on the market in the East.

Then, too, the assertion is made that there was a combination among a few buyers which had the effect of elevating prices last year far beyond any market rates.

The result, so it is claimed, af all this has been that the price of dried fruits in the East has been put beyond the reach of the laboring classes. Following this, naturally, the inference would be that owing to a California combination the workingmen of some of the Eastern States have been deprived of the luxuries of life—for certainly California dried fruit is one of the luxuries.

California dried fruit is one of the luxuries.

As long as the eastern buyers were unable to dispose of their stock they placed it in cold storage. It is there yet, or at least a greater portion of it is.

The buyers use this as a leverage against the purchasers to lower the purchasing price. They also claim that the crop in the East is larger this year than it was last. In fact, there seems to be a general movement on the part of buyers to bear the local dried fruit market. Growers will yet get fair prices for their fruit. All that is needed is patience.

The people of Pomona, Chino, South Riverside and Elsinore are excited over a railroad scheme which they realize is bound to come but which is not yet in hand. The fact that there seems to be a close alliance between the Southern California Motor road and the Los Angeles Terminal Railway seems to have been the cause of all this agitation. The citizens of Pomona, Chino and South Riverside seem to think that there is a chance for them to secure another railroad. This being the case a mass meeting has been called for Monday morning in Pomona, to which the people of the several localities are invited. The object of this meeting is to discuss the situation in a general way and to ascertain what is necessary to secure another transcontinental line for Southern California.

Important Arrest by Police Detectives Yesterday.

One of the Leaders of the Gang Taken into Custody. Said to be the Son of Highly Respectable Parents. Believed That Other Arrests will be Made in the Next Twenty-four Hours— Efforts to Obtain a Confession. The police detectives have done some good work in this city since the fire de-

They got back before the fire in the hay had made any head-

The firebugs were so sure that the engine house would burn that they were frightened when it did not blaze up, and they gave up their devilish work for that night.

AN ANGELENO IN BOSTON. The many friends of Mrs. Anna S. Averill will regret to learn that she will not return to Los Angeles before the holidays. She is now in New York, after having spent ten days at Vineyard Haven, Mass., and enjoying a visit to Boston. Of the latter city she says in a letter just received: "Nothing has occurred to mar my happiness or disappoint me in any way since I left Los Angeles two months ago except the four days in Boston, when a chilling east wind and constant rain prevented my seeing as much of this historic and in-teresting city as I desired. The 'Hub' in a rainstorm is not more attractive than is our own city in the rainy season. However I saw a good many of its attractions and shall never regret the fact that I have seen Boston with fact that I have seen Boston with my own eyes. The sun favored me long enough to brighten the views from Bunker Hill Monument which amply repaid me for the fatigue attendant upon the climb of 294 granite steps. The common and public gardens attracted me for long rambles; the art museum gave me a pleasant and profitable afternoon; the electric cars many enjoyable rides, and I saw through the rain the buildings and handsome squares of Harvard."

Mrs. Averill expects to reach Fairfield, Iowa, about October 1, where she will remain till Christmas.

CRINKLE'S SUMMER GIRL. Nym Crinkle expresses himself in the following reckless manner concerning his emotions toward the much-discussed and much-maligned "summer girl:"

and much-maligned "summer girl:"

I confess I stay in town with a keen luxury, for I like the country cousins who come to town when our other girls are building themselves up at the springs. I like them in a whole-souled, discreet way. Dear little Mahomets, they steal into the city as soon as the hay is raked. They come like a burst of larks. They have the shimmer of a tropic afternoon; there is corn and wine and oil in their faces. Their lips are the cherries of the season; there is shimmer of a tropic afternoon; there is corn and wine and oil in their faces. Their lips are the cherries of the season; there is heat lightning in their eyes and the glad rivulet is in their laughter. They bring the outdoors with them in their spirits. I belong to the primordial masculine brute who doesn't care a raparie in his cosmic soul for star-blown intellectuality in skirts. I ought to be shut up in the Massachusetts insane asylum for this I know, but here I am and here goes. Intellect, precocity, smartness, fashion, art, affectation, talepts and money pale their combined charms in the presence of some girl in a muslin dress, who catches all eyes, enmeshes all the masculinity in the room, and walks off in her heavy shoes with all hearts. She may be six months behind in the way she wears her hair, but no man objects to that. He, wishes to heaven that every woman was six years behind. He hates bangs, and the country cousin seems to know this instinctively. She has more girl to the square inch than the rest. That is all, it got into her illifiting gown and gave a glory that no artist can match. Every undulation of it was a law of beauty. These are true summer girls. No man wants to marry a critic or a philosopher, and he does not fall in love with an angel. He wants a girl who will think that everything he does is the acme of perosopher, and he does not fall in love with an angel. He wants a girl who will think that everything he does is the acme of perfection because he does it. There is a divine absence of reason about this operation that takes him off his feet. I suppose like them because they are vital and not specially intellectual. This shows how incorrigibly masculine I am. There is no use in my trying to hide it—I am.

He concludes his racy observations with, "Rally, boys. Make hay while the sun shines. In a little while the regulars will be back, and we shall have to put on our dress-coats, and listen to Howells, and go to the opera, and spend our hard-earned money on coupes. Now is the harvest of—girl."

I had been sick five months, paid out large sums of money for doctors and medicine but derived no benefit. Dr. Wong Him was recommended to me by a friend. I did not think I could get well, as my lungs and kidneys were very bad and getting worse all the time. Dr. Wong Him took me in this condition; he has in two months' time entirely cured ine, and now I feel it my duty to testify in his behalf. I wish to recommend him to the public as an efficient and skillful physician. THOMAS WEITE.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I am a pioneer in this county, having been here 30 years. Four years ago my little son Ellery became blood-poisoned by impure virus in vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purfler, new to me, and was surpised to learn that it was prepared by C. I. Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Cheises, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Sarsaparilla, and having uf 38 bottles is now entirely cured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful resulfs, I recommend it all I poparilla, and having ut at 8 hottics is now entirely eured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results, I recommend it all I pos-sibly can." JERONE M. SLEEPER, Upper Lake, Lake Co., Cal

Our reputation for superior work and gentle treatment cannot be questioned.

Clara Belle in the Cincinnati Enquirer says bad teeth are becoming so common that New York ladies are trying to make it fashionable not to smile, as the beautiful La Vallier made sad faces fashionable on account of her bad teeth. It was probably on account of her bad teeth that a fond mother told her daughter not to smile, for then she showed all her faults. Certain it is that Anthony would never have given the dominion of a world for one of Cleopatra's smiles if she had had bad teeth. Some one has carried it so far as to say "It would seem as if bad teeth would necessarily destroy all sentimental relations." Be that as it may, the teeth play a more important part in social intercourse than is usually accorded to them, ever displaying beauty or deformity, imparting fragrance or fetor.
